WISCONSIN WOUNDED—THE WISCONSIN THIRD IN THE LATE BATTLES.

Correspondence of the Sentinel.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 14, 1862.

Editors SENTINEL:—Enclosed I forward to you a correct list of names of the Wisconsin soldiers wounded in the battle of Slaughter's Mountain, Va., fought on Saturday last. All of those wounded in that battle that could be moved, have been brought on the cars to Alexandria and placed in the hospital. The first arrival was on Monday night, and up to yesterday (Wednesday) at noon, one hundred and ninety-one had arrived, the majority of them slightly wounded, and with the good treatment which they are getting, will soon be about.

Mr. D. S. Jones, a very efficient member of our society, and myself, have spent the last three days at Alexandria, in looking after our wounded; and have visited every one of the men whose names are in the enclosed list. Immediately on the arrival of the wounded our society promptly furnished a quantity of bandages, old linen and other articles which were in great demand. The relatives and friends of the wounded may rest assured that they will be faithfully looked after and well cared for; and I will here say that we are much in need of a supply of bandages and old linen, and cotton clothing for the use of the wounded. We are also in need of sheets, socks, dried fruits and wines, all of which we shall be able to dispose of to good advantage for the relief and comfort of our Wisconsin soldiers.

The remains of the brave and gallant Captain O'Brien arrived here to-day. The body of Lieut. Colonel Crane was buried on the battle field. To-morrow his brother, together with an undertaker and a person to embalm the body, will go to Calpepper to procure the remains. They will be received here on Sunday, and Tuesday, together with the body of Capt. O'Brien, will be forwarded to Wisconsin in charge of Mr. James E. Crane. The body of Colonel Crane will be taken to Beloit, and that of Captain O'Brien will be sent to Milwaukee. Lieut. Col. Crane lost his life while rallying his men near a fence in an open field in the face of a most destructive fire. Of Captain O'Brien I will say that a braver man never trod a battle field. He was wounded by a ball through the leg; he took his handkerchief and bound it around the wound and again led on his men into the thickest of the fight, and there fell, pierced with five bullets.

The conduct of the Third Wisconsin regiment on the battle field at Slaughter's Mountain was that of brave, steady and true soldiers. I should not deem it necessary to say more in their behalf, but for the misrepresentation that has been made by the correspondent of the New York Times, (published in that paper on the 12th inst.), who writes over the signature of "J. A." He says: "The line advanced steadily, with the exception of the Third Wisconsin, under a galling fire, and drove the rebels back." The Wisconsin regiment led at the first fire, and it was with great difficulty and at great personal risk, that the General succeeded in getting them into fire again. They had hardly returned to their position, however, before they broke and ran again—in fact proved worse than useless." I have taken considerable pains to find out the facts, and whether the statement of the Times correspondent was true; it is a base slander and falsehood, and there is not a word of truth in it. The regiment did not retreat until it was ordered to; in the advance it was given the right of the line, (the post of honor), and was exposed to a heavy enfilading or cross fire. At the first fire sixteen men fell in one company. I might mention the name of a regiment that did run from the battle field, some of whose members did not stop until they arrived at Calpepper, eight miles distant, but shall leave that to others. Our regiments from the west, who are in this vicinity, have not yet acquired the habit of feeling and fearing reporters in order to receive puffs in certain eastern papers.

W. V. SELICK,
Vice-President of Wisconsin Soldiers' Aid Society.

The total killed, wounded and missing of the Third Wisconsin, are: Killed, 16; wounded, 68; missing, 23. Total, 106.

ARREST OF A CLERGYMAN.—On Sunday, the 20th ult., a large number of Union officers attended the old school Presbyterian church of the Rev. Dr. Wm. H. Mitchell, at Florence, Alabama. So many of them were present that they constituted a majority of the congregation. After the usual opening hymn the minister asked the congregation to unite in prayer, when to their utter astonishment, the reverend traitor prayed for Jeff Davis, for the success of the confederate arms, and for the attainment of the independence of the confederate people. The Union men were greatly indignant at this gross insult, but remained standing until the prayer was concluded, when they left the church. After he had commenced his sermon, Col. Harlan returned to the church, walked up to the pulpit, arrested the preacher and delivered him in compliance with the orders of General Thomas, to a detachment of cavalry, which immediately conveyed him as a prisoner to Tuscomb.—Nashville Union, 8th.

An infantry fellow named Brien, at Buffalo, discharged a shot gun in the faces of two boys who were reaching through a picket fence to pick up some fallen fruit in his garden. The boys were dangerously wounded, or at least disfigured for life. Brien was arrested, and a mob quickly collected, tore down the garden fence, destroyed the garden, and would probably have inflicted summary vengeance had it not been for the protection of the prisoner's lawful captors.

"Our armies, while carrying the sword in one hand, should carry the olive in the other."—Chicago Times.

They had better carry a sword in one hand and a carbine in the other, until we take Richmond. The olives can be served up after the rebellion is crushed.—Chicago Journal.

The Richmond Whig says the rebellion is just beginning to assume the most frightful proportions. It's always the case that blighting occurs just previous to death.

It is a characteristic of truth never to exaggerate. What need has she of exaggeration?

Lawyers are the cultures that hover over perished fortunes.

Reported Resignation of McClellan.

There was a rumor in New York, yesterday, that General McClellan has resigned his commission in consequence of being withdrawn from James river. It is believed to be more than mere rumor.

Guerrillas in West Tennessee.

The steamers Sky-Lark and Collier were burned on the 18th, fifty miles above Fort Henry, by a band of 30 guerrillas.

A portion of Gen. Dodge's forces, under Capt. Lynch, attacked a band of rebels on the Obion river on the 18th, near Ladsinger's Ferry, completely routing them.

It is evident that guerrilla warfare has commenced in earnest in Kentucky and Tennessee.

Cruelties of the Rebels.

One hundred and fifty-six of our Union prisoners arrived at Washington, yesterday, from Richmond, just released by the rebels.

The returned prisoners add tenfold to the horrors we have already had accounts of in the way of rebel atrocities.

Com. Farragut's Report.

FLAG SHIP HARTFORD, BATON ROUGE, Aug. 7.

Sir:—It is one of the happiest moments of my life that I am enabled to inform the department of the destruction of the ram Arkansas, not because I held this iron-clad in such terror, but because the community did.

On the 4th inst., I sent the Tennessee up to Baton Rouge with provisions for Commander Porter and the gunboats stationed at that place.

At daylight, the Hartford was under weigh for this place, with orders for the other vessels to follow me as fast as ready.

On my arrival I was informed by Com. W. D. Porter that yesterday morning at two o'clock, the enemy's forces under Gen. Breckinridge attacked Gen. Williams, and drove him in his pickets.

Gen. Williams' command had ample warning; all was prepared for him. The fight was continued with great energy on both sides until 10 a. m., by which time the enemy had been driven two or three miles, but unfortunately the gallant Gen. Williams was killed.

Fortunately he had informed the Lieutenant Commanding, Ransom, the evening before of his plans, and requested him not to fire a gun until he notified him, and when he did so, our gunboats opened with fine effect, throwing their shells directly into the midst of the enemy, producing great damage and confusion among them.

Lieut. Ransom had an officer on the state house, which overlooked the adjacent country, and could direct the fire of the shells. As soon as the enemy was repulsed Commander Porter with the gunboats went up the stream after the ram Arkansas, which was lying about five miles above, apparently afraid to take a share in the conflict.

According to the preconceived plan, as he came within gun shot he opened on her and probably soon disabled some of her machinery or steering apparatus, for she became unmanageable, continuing, however, to fire her guns at the Essex.

Com. Porter says he took advantage of her presenting a weak point towards him, and loaded his guns with incendiary shells. After his first discharge of these projectiles a gust of fire came out of her side, and from that moment it was discovered she was on fire, he continued his exertions to prevent the fire being extinguished.

They backed her ashore, and made a line fast, which was soon burnt, and she swung off into the river, where she continued to burn until she blew up with a tremendous explosion, thus ending the career of the last iron-clad on the Mississippi.

There were many persons on the banks of the river witnessing the fight, in which they anticipated a triumph for the Arkansas. I will leave a sufficient force of gunboats here to support the army, and will return to-morrow to N. O. and depart immediately for Ship Island with a light heart, feeling that I have left no bugbear to torment the communities of the Mississippi in my absence.

D. G. FARRAGUT, Flag Officer Comd'g.

Our Iron-Clad Fleet.

We venture to say that all our readers have heard a great deal more than they exactly understand about the magnitude of our iron-clad fleet.

Every one knowing that we have numerous mailed vessels building and afloat, but hardly any one knowing how many or where they are.

In today's Tribune, a complete and correct description of this iron-clad fleet. It contains a clear account of the fleet afloat—the fleet building—and the fleet about to be commenced.

Of the first, the Naugatuck, New Ironsides, Roanoke, Monitor and Galena, have been so much talked about that, except when we have had something new to say of them, we have dismissed them briefly.

Attempts have been made to give an idea of the craft in course of construction, but they were neither classified nor accurate. A summary of the resources of this country in iron-clad vessels, built and building is as follows:

1. Monitor, afloat. 2. Gunboats, afloat, (Galena and Naugatuck). 3. Gunboats on western rivers, afloat. 4. Gunboats on western rivers, not purchased and mailed.

5. Monitors, building. 6. Gunboats, building. 7. Gunboats for the protection of Ohio and Indiana. 8. Mississippi gunboats. 9. Gunboats to be placed with Clinch Iron.

10. Gunboats to be built at the navy yard. 11. Gunboats at New York (Thirteenth street). 12. Gunboats at Boston. 13. Gunboats at Greenpoint.

14. Gunboats at Philadelphia. 15. Vessel supposed to be building secretly by Mr. Ericsson. 16. New Ericsson vessels.

Of these, one building at Philadelphia, two at New York, one at Greenpoint—and possibly others to be exclusively iron.

The following is the actual force of our iron fleet afloat at present:

1. Monitor, afloat. 2. Gunboats, afloat, (Galena and Naugatuck). 3. Gunboats on western rivers, afloat. 4. Gunboats on western rivers, not purchased and mailed.

5. Monitors, building. 6. Gunboats, building. 7. Gunboats for the protection of Ohio and Indiana. 8. Mississippi gunboats. 9. Gunboats to be placed with Clinch Iron.

10. Gunboats to be built at the navy yard. 11. Gunboats at New York (Thirteenth street). 12. Gunboats at Boston. 13. Gunboats at Greenpoint.

14. Gunboats at Philadelphia. 15. Vessel supposed to be building secretly by Mr. Ericsson. 16. New Ericsson vessels.

There may be one or two more of smaller dimensions, but these are the most important. The Roanoke is the only craft among them not manned and ready for immediate service.

It requires no elaboration to give importance to these facts. A little over a year ago, the London Times reproduced, not thinking of building iron-clad vessels, it may not be agreeable to it to observe how apt scholars we are when we choose to learn.

That England should be able to have, "by the end of 1862," fifteen iron-plated vessels, which cannot do anything but fight in over 25 feet of water, may be a matter of congratulation to the people of Great Britain; but that the United States should have 50 mailed craft, which can fight in salt or fresh water, and disappear to the very surface when necessary, may also be a fact worthy of their consideration.

We may repeat that, although our summary of vessels is complete up to this day, it may be very far short of being so six weeks hence.—N. Y. Tribune.

BY TELEGRAPH.

REPORTED FOR THE DAILY GAZETTE.

BY WISCONSIN STATE TELEGRAPH LINE, Office at Union Passenger Depot.

To-Day's Report.

MORNING DISPATCHES.

St. Paul, Aug. 20. The Indians in Minnesota, Minnesota, exasperated at the non-reception of money from the government, attacked the whites in the town of Aekton, and killed several both men and women.

Several are also reported massacred at Tower agency. The settlers are much alarmed and coming down the Minnesota river in crowds.

Four companies of troops under command of ex-Gov. Sibley have been ordered to move immediately to the scene of disturbance.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. Under the authority of the act of July 14th to aid the construction of railroads and telegraph lines to the Pacific ocean, the Secretary of the Interior has appointed the following named gentlemen to be commissioners, in conjunction with the other commissioners named in the act:

Sam'l G. Tilden and Henry H. Poor of New York, Wm. D. Griswold of Indiana, Robert W. Latham, of the District of Columbia and Dr. O. M. Wascenraft of California.

POOLESVILLE, Md., Aug. 19. Special to Herald.—The following narration was given me by a civilian who arrived from Richmond Sunday. He left Richmond last Wednesday, the 13th inst., traveling to Sexton's Junction, 27 miles north of the city, by private conveyance.

By rail to Gordonsville, and then on foot to the Potomac. At the time he left, troops were pouring out of the city on the Virginia Central railroad in such numbers that it was impossible for civilians to procure passage.

All troops around Richmond were in motion towards the north, while others were passing through in cars from the south, supposed to be that part of the army between Petersburg and the city. It was known at that time that McClellan had begun the evacuation of Harrison's Landing.

Arriving at Sexton's Junction, he saw large encampments extending from the south side of the Potomac river to several miles north of the junction, and also from the junction in a westerly direction, up the valley of the North Anna river, small camps were visible at several localities along the railroad from the junction to the crossing of the common road from Fredericksburg, where another large body was also encamped.

At Louisa county house was another large body, and thence to Gordonsville several regiments were strung along the road in camps, every 2 or 3 miles from Gordonsville, where there were not less than 6 or 7 regiments.

A heavy force could be seen camping on the hills stretching to the north, and in the direction of Orange county house. He stopped 10 hours at Gordonsville, and during that time saw not less than 10 trains arrive over the Central railroad from the south and the Charlottesville railroad from Lynchburg.

Those from Richmond bringing troops and supplies. My informant, judging from what he saw, says the whole confederate army in Virginia is by this time in position on the Virginia railroad, and that it numbers near 250,000 men. Stonewall Jackson was seen on the left, but none knew where he was.

Our informant passed through Stanardsville and saw quite a heavy force at that point. They are not encamped and seemed preparing to move. More troops were said to be marching to the same point from Charlottesville and Gordonsville.

This looks as if they contemplated a flank movement against Pope's right. If so, it will probably be by Jackson. Fort Monroe, August 19.

Times' Letter.—The army is already in process of embarkation for another field of operation. Porter's corps performed a very rapid march from Yorktown, making the whole distance of near 50 miles in less than one day.

The division of General Morrill with the staff, reached Hampton yesterday afternoon, and the wagon train with the whole corps were comfortably encamped before night. This morning they took up their line of march to Newport News, from which place they will immediately embark.

Sykes' division are already on board of transports. Sumner's corps, which formed the rear guard of the army, with French's brigade forming the extreme rear, arrived at Yorktown, yesterday, all safe, and will embark soon. The entire wagon train of this corps has arrived at Hampton.

WASHINGTON, August 20. Special to Tribune.—Mr. Stanton stated, to-day, that the order for drafting to fill up the old regiments would be enforced without fail by the first of September. The old regiments which have not been recruited up to their full strength, before that time, will at once be filled by draft.

Fort Monroe, Aug. 19. Tribune's Letter.—Gen. Heintzelman did not accompany the army in its move down the Peninsula, but struck off in another direction, towards the White House. His exact course and whereabouts were unknown, but the common rumor was that he was going to look up a fight. He was accompanied by Averill's Cavalry, who stampeded a body of the enemy, some distance above. It is surmised that Gen. H. will make his appearance in the neighborhood of the White House or West Point.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 21. Specials from Indianapolis say that the mayor of Henderson, Ky., has fled to the rebel army. The entire city council were arrested for refusing to take the oath of allegiance, but released upon resigning and giving bonds of $5,000. The property of the mayor had been seized, and a new election ordered.

Several Indiana regiments, four companies of cavalry and one battery have already gone into Kentucky. Two other regiments were expected to leave last night.

The Commercial says to-day that guards will be stationed at railroad depots and all other avenues leading from the state, who will require the exhibition of provost marshals' passes from all persons leaving.

5,904 Men Required for the Old Regiments.

HEADQUARTERS STATE OF WISCONSIN, Adjutant General's Office.

The Governor has been notified by the War Department that the number of men required to fill the regiments now in the field from Wisconsin, was, on the thirteenth day of August, five thousand nine hundred and four. (5,904). It is therefore ordered:

1.—That if the regiments now in the field are not filled before the first day of September by volunteering, a special draft will be ordered to fill them; which draft will be first levied upon such counties as shall not have filled their quotas of troops under the previous call-in-chief.

By order of the Commander-in-chief, AUGUSTUS GAYLORD, Adjutant Genl. Wisconsin.

WELL DONE.—It is said that out of the class of sixteen which graduated at Beloit College this year, one-third have already enlisted and taken their places in the army of the Union. A large number of the under graduates have also enlisted.

H. S. Conger and his "D—d Stories" Again.

I have no disposition to prolong this newspaper controversy with Mr. Conger. He made an assault, through the press, of such a character as I thought calculated, if not intended, to injure my interests in some degree.

What I said in reply was designed to defend such interests. He, speaking for the Central Bank, now says that that bank had no part in the attack on the Rock County Bank.

Nevertheless, he continues to contrast the conduct of the two banks, and attempts to exhibit the Rock County in an unfavorable light. He would have the public believe that he is engaged in exposing shirks.

Now, it is notorious through this state that the Central Bank shirked out of paying its quota into the state treasury, under the miserable subterfuge that the state had no money to pay its debts; when the bank managers very well knew that the state had nothing to give for the money but bonds.

The Rock County Bank did pay its money into the war fund, as it offered to do, and took what the state had to give in return.

During nearly all the year 1861 the Central Bank occupied a position antagonistic to the patriotic and loyal citizens of the state, who upheld the individual and public credit of the state.

On the contrary the Rock County Bank aided the government and the loyal citizens of the state to the extent of its ability in the great cause.

Now at the eleventh hour comes the Central Bank, by its attorney, H. S. Conger, and undertakes to offset the paltry subscription of $1,500 for county scrip, which scrip must eventually be paid, if paid at all, by the stockholders of the Rock County Bank as individuals, for the stock of the Central is mostly owned out of the state, and their stockholders cannot be forced to contribute to pay any part of the tax levied to meet the scrip, as Mr. Conger and his mob followers expect to force the already tax-burthened people of this county to do.

As to the cash subscription of the enormous total of $80, I know that one stockholder of the Rock County Bank had, before Mr. Conger waked up to the present danger of the country, paid towards raising Capt. Miles' company the sum of $120, and has since become responsible for upwards of $100 in bounties to recruits in other companies, and the additional share which that stockholder will be compelled to pay towards Conger's forced loan will be greater than that of the Central Bank, Mr. Conger, and all his mob included.

As to the disinterestedness of Mr. Conger and the Central Bank in the present work, I will just remind the public that the avails of the $43,000 county scrip all goes into the vaults of the Central. And to comfort the tax payers of this county, let me remind them that Mr. Conger's forced loan of $43,000, together with the five per cent. cost of collecting the same, $2,150, and the interest, $3,370, amounting in the aggregate to $92,000, all goes into the bank of which Mr. Conger is a director and attorney, in consideration of which that bank has agreed to pay $80, and perhaps will pay it.

I do not feel challenged by Mr. Conger's abuse to brag of what I have done for the cause. It is true that I have not aided by buying bonds at a public meeting, and having it reported for the papers—nor by efforts in the same meeting to arouse the baser prejudices of the mob and kindle the fires of anarchy in this community by abusing the oldest and most valued of our citizens—men who have made this place what it is, so far as everything good and noble is taken into account—because such citizens preferred to do good in their own way, instead of Mr. Conger's way, or, as he intimates they must do, "in the way the Central Bank has done."

Notwithstanding Mr. Conger's denial of the part taken by Conger & Co. in the American House affair last fall—the story is true—and shows that Conger & Co. schematized war movements then in a way peculiar to the firm. I lived through their secretizing then, and hope to survive Mr. Conger's scrutiny now.

Mr. Conger has something to say about my brothers-in-law; they are of age, and can fight their own battles. For their positions in the army they are no more indebted to me than to Mr. Conger. Mr. Conger may have brothers-in-law; he has one, it is said, who is a resident of this city. I have no disposition to allude to him further, or disturb him in any manner.

Mr. Conger seems to take exception to my remarks about his "looking at Europe through glass spectacles." The man who sold pebbles came here during Mr. Conger's absence, and the presumption was, therefore, that Mr. Conger went away with his glasses on. It is an old saying that "there is nothing like leather," and it is not a violent presumption of Mr. Conger's that it might be used for spectacles. Mr. Conger appears to be looking through that medium at this time.

Mr. Conger finds fault with the English of my answer. I told the printer to put it into good English; if he made mistakes let them be amended by the court, but without costs.

A Slight Cold, Cough, Hoarseness, or Sore Throat, which might be checked with a simple remedy, if neglected, often terminates seriously. Few are aware of the importance of stopping a Cough or Slight Cold in its first stages; that which in the beginning would yield to a mild remedy, if not attended to, soon attacks the lungs. Brown's Bronchial Troches were first introduced eleven years ago. It has been proved that they are the best article before the public for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Asthma, Catarrh, the Hoarse Cough in Consumption, and numerous affections of the Throat, giving immediate relief. OVER THE POST OFFICE. THERE is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of order, one that is so simple and so in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, all on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE COMPANY.

Who take pleasure in placing their machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any make and all manufacturers to do as large a range of work as they easily be done on one of these machines. They have all the advantage of a reversible foot motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making the stitch as you want it, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obtained by this motion.

Any correspondence regarding our Machines will be promptly answered. Send us a card, and we will mail you a circular and sample of work by return mail. Address, Office over the Post Office, Janesville, Wis. J. W. C. MASON, sole agent. General Western Agent, Chicago.
